

Goodbye

Written and Composed By: Anthony Holloway

Verse

I've been on call like a late-night line,
Fixing all your mess, never charging a dime
Had me on mute, just static in your feed,
Now I'm loud and clear, I'm the headline you need

Pre-Chorus

My patience just maxed out the limit,
Read the signs, boy, I'm done with it
If you're still blind to what's in view,
You'll be a ghost in the rearview

Chorus

I'm not a maybe, I'm the main event,
Not your fallback love, not a supplement
I'm not the girl you keep on standby,
While you're drinkin' cheap beers with the guys
Nah, I'm the front row, I'm the story live,
I'm the crown jewel, I'm the reason why
If you can't see that, then goodbye

Verse

These boots don't wait, they're movin' fast,
A future built, no ties to the past
You'll remember what you let slide,
When I'm shining bright with my own tribe

Pre-Chorus

No more plot twists, no more stall,
I'm not your someday, I want it all
Keep your hesitation, keep your lies,
I've got wings and I'll learn to fly

Chorus

I'm not a maybe, I won't wait in line,
Not your "someday, babe," or a second time
I'm not the girl you keep on standby,
While you're chasin' highs you can't hold tight
Nah, I'm the upgrade, I'm the whole prize,
The front-page headline you can't deny
If you can't see that, then goodbye

Bridge

One day you'll scroll and see my name,
Top of the charts, I rewrote the game
And it'll hit you like a neon sign,
The girl you lost was one of a kind

Chorus

I'm not a maybe, I'm the main event,
Not your fallback plan, not a settlement
I'm not the girl you keep on standby,
While you're sittin' wonderin' why
Nah, I'm the anthem, the fire, the fight,
I'm the one who knows her light
If you can't see that, then goodbye

Outro

Your loss, not mine —
End of story time.
