

It's Not You, It's Me

Written and Composed By: Anthony Holloway

Verse

Took some time getting good alone
Quit jumping every time he called my phone
Finally got my heart sitting right
Then you walked in smiling last night

Pre-Chorus

Can't let myself fall for him
I just got my life back again

Chorus

You say all the right things at the right time
Make goodbye scars feel a little less mine
And I hate how easy you're getting through
Yeah, I can already feel myself wanting you
I know what I'm about to say sounds weak
But it's not you, it's me

Verse

Stayed out way too late last night
Started thinking maybe this feels right
Let you hold me a little too close
I'm terrified of what I'm wanting most

Pre-Chorus

Need to slow my heart down somehow
Can't let myself need you right now

Chorus

Boy, you're getting harder not to dial
I catch myself waiting on your smile
And I hate how good it feels this deep
'Cause I know what that kinda does to me
I know what I'm about to say sounds weak
But it's not you, it's me

Bridge

You don't feel like what I knew
I don't feel half as scared with you
Thought getting close would bury me
Turns out you're what set me free

Chorus

Now we're talking all the way till dawn
And I miss you soon as you're gone
Don't tense up when you hold me near
Guess I quit looking for a way out of here
I know what I'm about to say sounds weak
It wasn't you, it was me

Outro

It was me.
Yeah, it was me.
